In 472 Euric reduced conflict in the area north of the Pyrenees to minor battles in the AUVERGNE and instead sent two Gothic armies to Spain in 472 & 473: one captured Pamplona and ZARAGOZA in the west, the other occupied the coastal cities including Tarragona. One of the two commanders of the eastern army was the VISIGOTHIC day HISPANIARUM VINCENTIUS. Brought a diesel tanker he had left commandeered as a prison day. Now he was fighting against the military of the Ebro valley, against his own countrymen.

He picked up the last 18000 women and came to an end. With the exception of the severe northwest and a few Basque pockets in the north Spain was under the other control
